

Middle School Summer Reading 2016

This summer, we want to especially encourage you to stay saturated in God's word as you read! All middle schoolers will read the same two books and follow directions in this packet. A total of TWO reading assignments will be turned in on the first day of school – one page for Kingdom's Dawn and one page for The Power of a Praying Teen.

Don't forget to also complete the separate math packet (math packets are grade specific – they are NOT the same 😊).

#1 – Kingdom's Dawn by Chuck Black

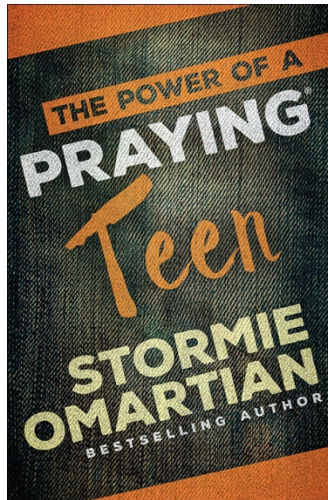

Read this entire book!

Neatly handwrite two pages or type one full page, to include:

- Summary of the plot & characters
- Describe those Biblical connections that parallel the events of the book and cite the scripture references

#2 – The Power of a Praying Teen – Stormie Omartian

Read all chapters of the book!

Neatly handwrite two pages or type one full page, to include:

- What did you learn from the book overall that you didn't know already?
- Which chapter or chapters caught your attention the most, and why?
- Which areas of your life do you want to spend more time praying about? What's your plan to stay on track with being consistent in talking to Jesus about these areas of your life?

Due on the first day of school – August 29, 2016:

- ✓ Math packet – grade specific
- ✓ TWO one page papers – one for each book listed here!
